A birthday is your own personal new year

Your private mark in time between the past and the future . . .
Your own farewell to yesterday
Your welcome to tomorrow.

THE ENGLISH HIGH SCHOOL

Past & Present

In 1821, The English Classical School had the distinction of being the first public high school in America. The name was changed to The English High School in 1833. It's first site on Derne St. held 101 students in the first year. Eventually, the school moved to Pickney St. on Beacon Hill, but in 1844 it moved to Bedford St. The English High School and The Boston Latin School shared this building for 37 years. In 1881 both schools moved into a building on Warren Ave.-Montgomery St. At that time the school was the largest building in the country for free schooling and educational purposes. The English High School moved to it's present site in the Fenway in 1955. Two years before the new building was opened in 1974, the school became co-ed and thus we have our present school.

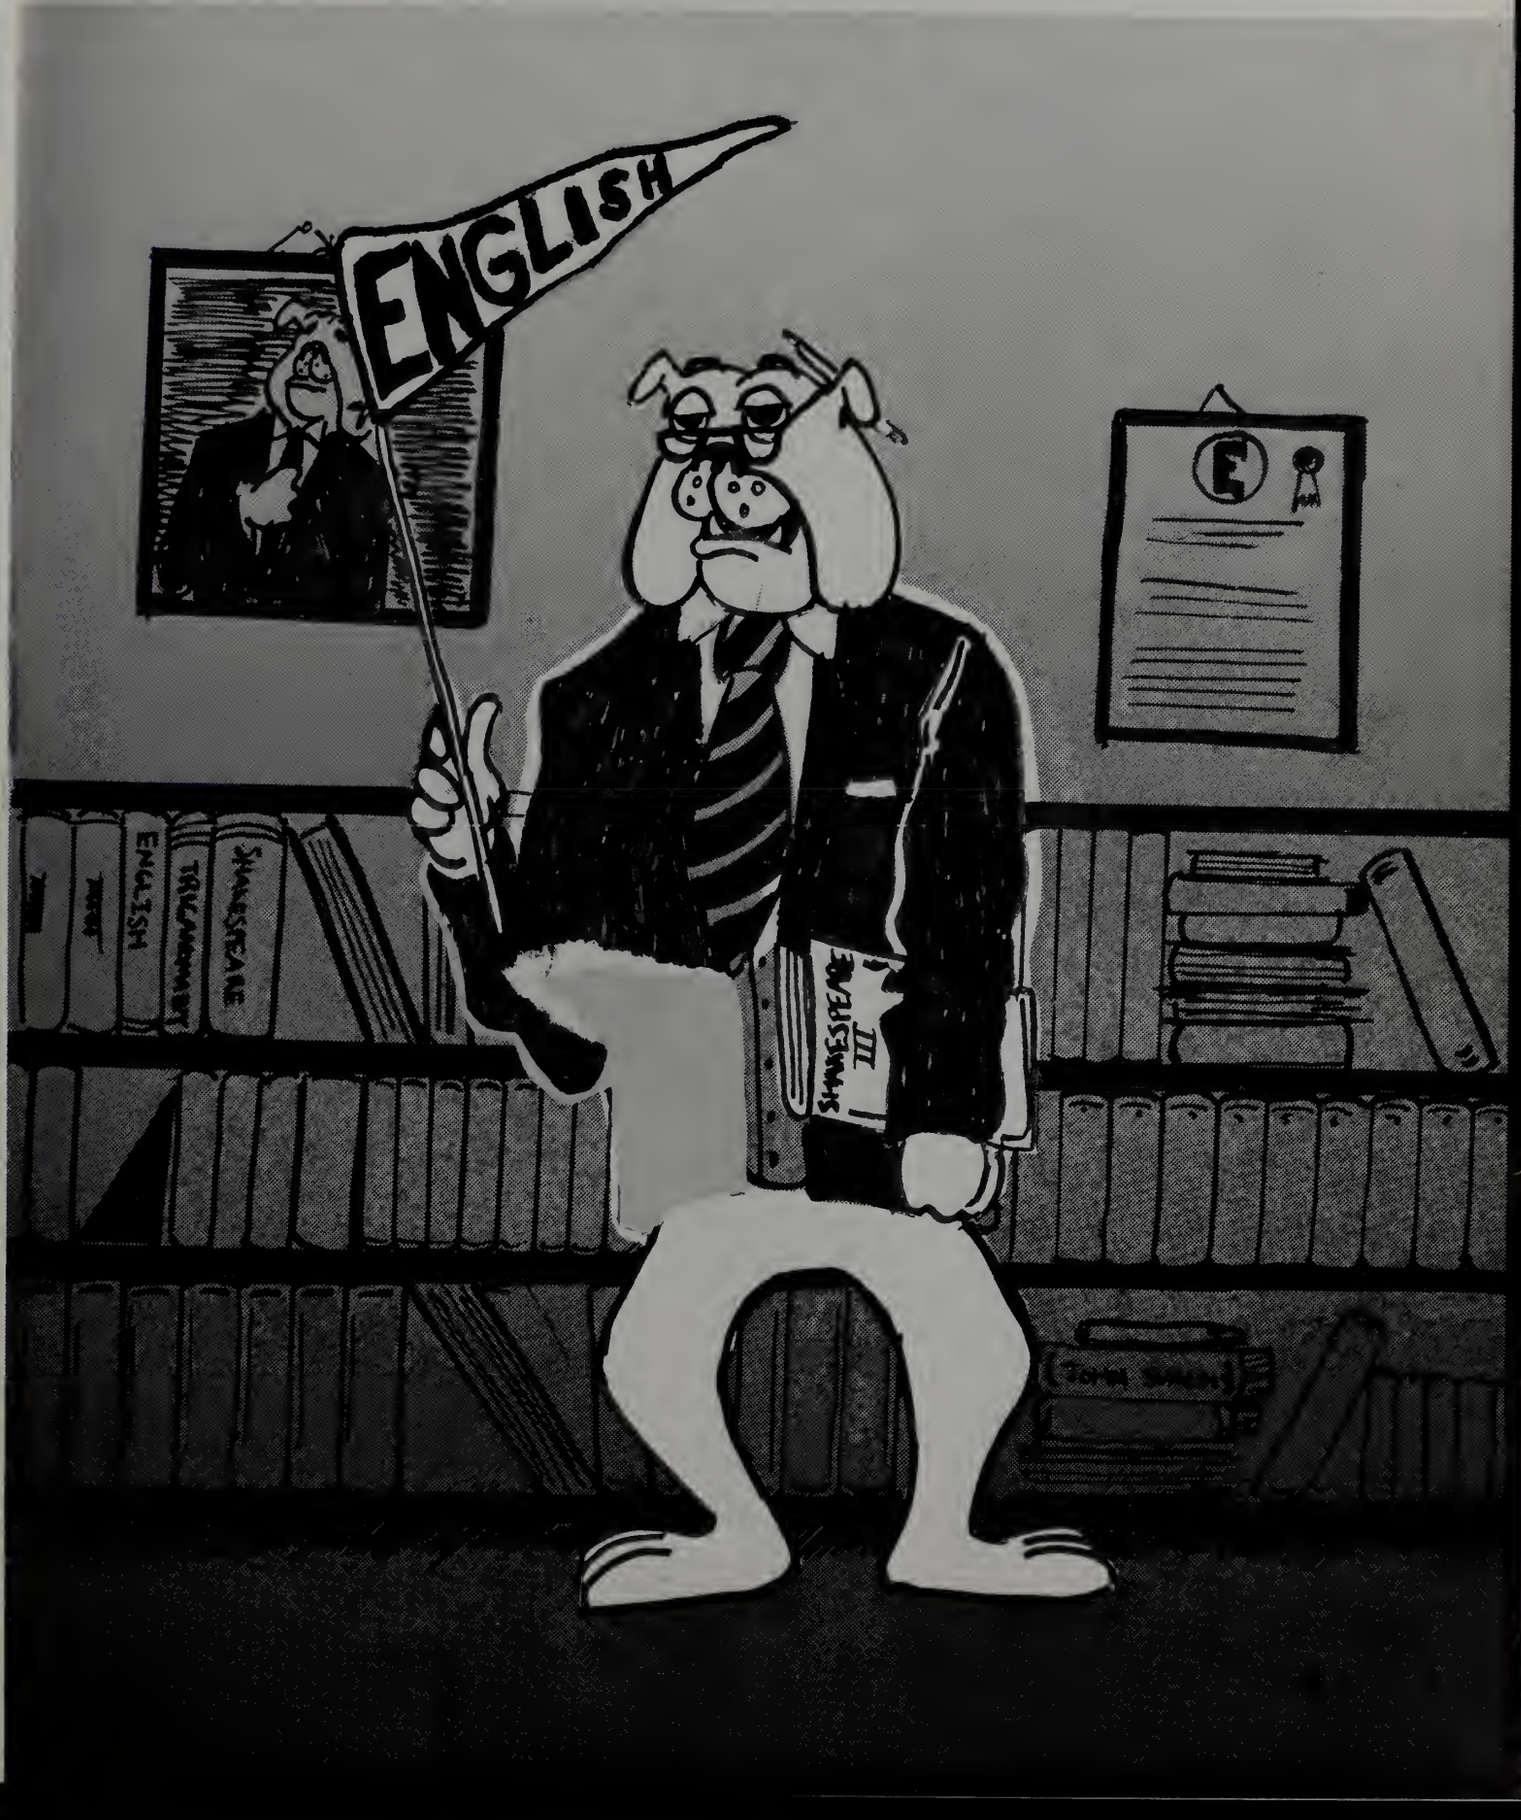
DEDICATION

We, the class of 1981, dedicate with pride our yearbook to Ms. Elaine Colarossi. She has filled our four years at The English High School with sincere warmth, determination, and devotion, without her assistance this yearbook and the yearbooks of the past years would not have been possible.

Ms. Colarossi has taught us not only how to deal with the pressures of putting a yearbook together, but the value of cooperative effort. She has watched us mature by helping us in our endeavors. To a beautiful teacher and advisor with gratitude.

THE CLASS OF 1981

ACADEMIA



To The Graduating Class of 1981

High school years, some people say, are the best years of your life. I hope they have been for you. Remember in all your endeavors, there are two parts - what you bring in and what others bring in. Try, always, to bring a positive attitude and willingness to learn and your future will be bright.

Regardless of your plans, the faculty and staff of The English High School community wish you success and great fortune in all you do. Remember your duty to your school, to your parents, to your community, and to yourself. Be a contributing member of our society.

I hope in some way your experience at English High School has prepared you for what you will face in the outside world.

Good Luck and Best Wishes

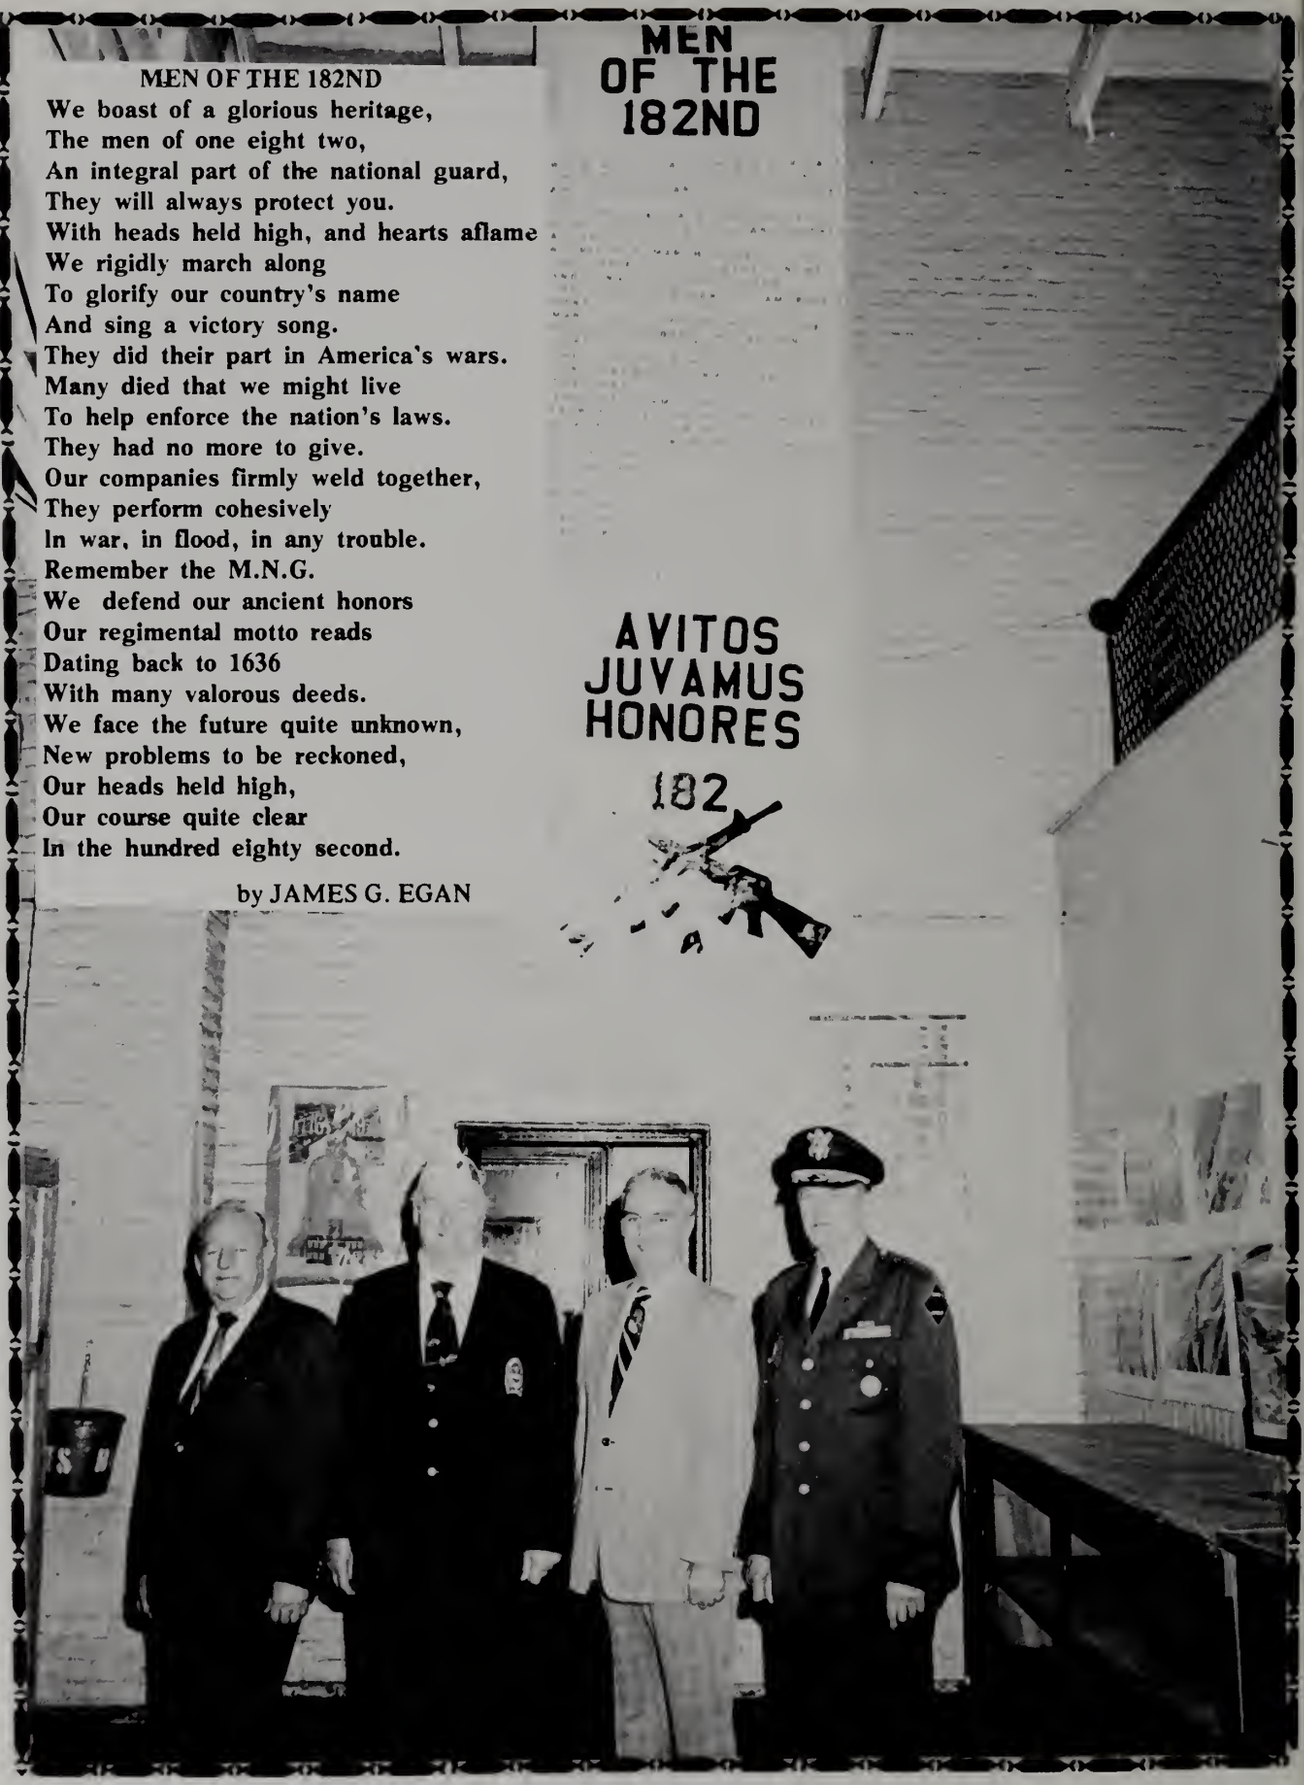
MEN OF THE 182ND

We boast of a glorious heritage,
The men of one eight two,
An integral part of the national guard,
They will always protect you.
With heads held high, and hearts aflame
We rigidly march along
To glorify our country's name
And sing a victory song.
They did their part in America's wars.
Many died that we might live
To help enforce the nation's laws.
They had no more to give.
Our companies firmly weld together,
They perform cohesively
In war, in flood, in any trouble.
Remember the M.N.G.
We defend our ancient honors
Our regimental motto reads
Dating back to 1636
With many valorous deeds.
We face the future quite unknown,
New problems to be reckoned,
Our heads held high,
Our course quite clear
In the hundred eighty second.

by JAMES G. EGAN



Poem About 182nd Inf. in Malden Armory

MALDEN — A 20 foot copy of the official poem of the 182nd Infantry Battalion that now hangs in the Malden Armory was recently dedicated. The poem was written by James G. Egan, a poetic biographer of American Presidents who is the AMVETS National Poet Laureate as well as the 182nd Infantry Association.

The work of Mr. Egan has appeared in veterans periodicals and The International Clover Poetry Association Volumes of Verse. The large copy of "Men of the 182nd" was made by the armorer to give inspiration to the men who now serve in the National Guard.

Mayor James S. Conway of Malden, an active member of the 182nd, was in charge of the affair. Brig. Gen. Lawrence Brock, S.J., was also present.

In World War II Gen. Brock was chaplain of the 182nd Infantry Battalion on Guadalcanal and he was 40 years in the National Guard. He is also an active member of the association based at Camp Curtis Guild, Reading.

In past years all units of the National Guard supported basketball teams. Both Mayor Conway and Jim Egan played on the basketball teams during their period of service. Deputy Commissioner of Veterans Services of Malden Paul V. Cahill was also in attendance.

Egan was Interviewed At Ball Game

MALDEN — On Thanksgiving Day James G. Egan of Malden was interviewed by Roger Goodrich on Channel 5, television, at Nickerson Field — the Boston University Football Stadium.

The occasion was the oldest schoolboy football rivalry between Boston English High School vs Boston Latin School.

Egan, a past alumni president and a past president of the Class of 1925, has seen 52 of these games. He travels with the football and basketball teams and English High Coach William J. Stewart claims that 'Jim" has seen more Blue & Blue athletic contests than any other living graduate.

At the team rally at the school the day previous Egan was the alumni speaker. A year ago the tenth floor of the school was named the James G. Egan Poet Laureate Area.

However, despite the oratory of Mr. Egan, English did not emerge victorious even though being undefeated up to Turkey Day.

James G Egan is shown visiting the picturesque skyscraper capital at Lincoln, Nebraska.
